DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET,

SHACKELFORD, of DANVILLE, KY.

We are reliably informed that Judge L. P. Little and Hon. Joe Nos will accept the nomination tendered them at the recent Republican convention at Owensboro for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney, respectively.

Interest will now center upon the term of court which convenes at Frankfort next Monday. It is at this session that the indictments against W. Godfrey Hunter and others will be tried, and it is likely that some racy testimony will be adduced.

Our Fox ally contemporary has been talking itself horse against fusion in Ohio county, but now it has a fusion of its own that is hard to beat. It is supposed that it is Republican in principle, its name would imply, yet it has a Democratic editor. This is fusion with a vengeance.

The Russellville Herald, which has been trying very hard for a while to be a gold-bug sheet, comes out in its last issue and endorses the full Democratic ticket, putting same at the head of its columns. The Herald sees the trend of affairs political, and is wise enough to get on the safe side.

We hope the candidates for the Legislature throughout Kentucky, and especially Ohio county, will pledge themselves to one duty, if elected, and that is endeavor to obtain cheaper school books for the citizens of the State. This is a crying need, and one which should no longer go unheeded. The question is, will the people be educated and should be educated by the people and pushed by the law-makers until relief is obtained. A candidate can not possibly lose anything by helping himself in this matter. Cheaper school books is a universal demand.

The price of sugar has advanced. Woods goods are advancing in price, as are also hides and general supplies. Who does these high prices benefit, the law-makers or the people? Wheat is also up, but there is not one man in ten who raises wheat to sell. The others have to buy their at advanced rates. Wages have not increased nor been restored from former reductions. Summing the whole matter up and viewing it from a matter-of-fact point, are these genuine evidences of good times? The volume of money should increase along with the prices of the necessities to be purchased.

The Republican party in Ohio is all split up the back and down the front and its leaders are gnashing at each other and indulging in all those vindictive political paces which are beginning to characterize the party of brag patriotism and poor promises. Hanna is trying as usual, to hoss the crowd, in which effect he is being opposed by the better element of his political brethren, including many old-time Republican leaders. His candidacy for the Senate is being characterized by many prominent Republicans as an insult to American citizenship. The belligerent attitude of Ohio Republicans toward each other reminds us strongly of affairs in our own Kentucky, where the party that wanted so badly to "see them books" is just now engaged in a mutually destructive war that will soon relegate it to its quondam minority.

Mark Hanna's code of political ethics is said to be, "No man in public office owes the public anything." This sentiment, at first thought, seems rather bizarre, to say the least of it, but when one applies it to the methods and principles of Republicanism, it does not seem to be inconsistent or unreal. Mr. Hanna's idea is that public offices, when obtained by Republican means, do not really come from the public, and, therefore, under this system, the public official does not receive his office from the public. It is a public official feels called upon to inquire from whence came his trust, he must look around and discover the person to whom he is indebted for his office, and render homage to whom homage is due. It will be seen, at a glance that Mr. Hanna's motto, as applied to Mr. Hanna's way of doing business, is not so far wrong after all.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

A short time ago the head of the editorial column of the last issue of the Hartford Republican announces that Mr. Sam A. Anderson has disposed of his interest in that paper to his brother, Mr. J. Allen Anderson, who will also assume the editorship. It has been thought for some time, by people acquainted with the run of affairs, that there would be a business change in the paper soon, and the public was not much surprised at the announcement that Mr. Sam A. Anderson had unloaded the property upon his brother Allen. Newspaper ventures in Kentucky, when run under Republican guidance, are almost uniformly unsuccessful, and it is only by the greatest effort that the few Republican weeklies in Kentucky are now kept going.

As to what kind of a paper Mr. Allen Anderson will run, the public is left to guess. He makes no public statement, but it is safe to assume his political course not future prospects. Mr. Anderson himself is a Democrat, and has always voted the Democratic ticket, even up to and including the last general election.

Good times may be here and the wave of prosperity may be upon us (we hope it is), but the fact has not yet been discovered in the Herald office.

We are open to conviction-aye, anxious for someone to grab us when our forebalk ought to grow and direct our doubts gaze to a real prosperity cloud. Many persons can save themselves this trouble by sending in what they owe the Herald.

It will ease your conscience, help the newspaper man along, and, best of all, aid greatly in converting a skeptical thinker whose business is being influenced too much by his experience.

Noticed.

The Jamestown Coal Co. situated on the river near Livermore will open up a yard in Hartfield in the near future. We will communicate with the company at Livermore or call on James Sander, their agent at this point for prices before laying in their winter supply of coal.

One would hardly believe from the little he hears of the matter, that Kentuckians are at present living in a state of semi-education.

When the question was first agitated considerable bitterness was engendered and some persons predicted various kinds of disadvantages and calamities that would result from an application of the compulsory principle of schooling. But since the law was passed we have nothing to do with it. It makes one wonder whether it is really working so smoothly or whether it is not being violated all over the State.

The Great Strike Nearly at an End.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 3.—The end of the great coal miners strike is in sight. The miners, the national executive board of the United Mine Workers agreed to recommend to the miners a proposition from the Pittsburg operators for a straight 8-hour day, to be in effect in the coal field of the Pittsburg district.

The miners' association has been called to meet in Columbus September 8 to set up the recommendation. The miners have agreed to a 10-hour day and all commodities on the average have declined in value as compared in gold, coincident with the fall of silver, but the decline in the value of wheat and silver observed at this time is an exception to the general rule of the miners' proposition.

WHEAT AND SILVER.

RON. R. B. GLAND ON THE PRICE
OF THESE PRODUCTS.

The Great Silver Leader Gives His
Explanation of the Present
Divergence.

GREATER MONEY VOLUME NEEDED.

(Special to THE HERALD.)

LEONARD, Mo., Aug. 31.—The fact that the price of wheat and the price of silver increased, measured by gold, have recently paralleled each other, is due to the fact that gold advances as price of silver in the contention of the bimetallicists to the effect that the price of wheat has been controlled by the price of silver, that is to say, that as silver rises wheat rises, and vice versa.

Upsetfully, as measured in gold, wheat has risen in value and silver fallen, but that this state of things is an exception to the general rule of the miners' proposition.

The wheat crop in other countries has caused a rise in the value of wheat, which is altogether temporary, and to a great extent, seasonal. The wheat and silver advances observed at this time are not to be accounted for by a simultaneous decline in the gold price of wheat.

BRYAN SPEAKS.

The great strike in the administration at Lincoln, Neb., on the 1st, which united the Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans in support of the miners, was the greatest in the history of the country.

"The miners' strike is the greatest in the history of the country, and it is the miners' strike that has caused the greatest increase in the value of wheat and silver," says Mr. Bryan.

"I will not take up the time of the readers of the Republic to present an array of statistics, as could be done, to show what the demonization of silver has done to the price of wheat, but the wheat and silver advance observed at this time is an exception to the general rule of the miners' proposition.

"The miners' proposition must be tested but other evidence can be easily considered. To fight each other in the presence of a united and unopposed force would not only postpone the restoration of bimetalism, but endanger the miners' cause, and the cause of the people. If miners would not fight each other, it is right now. If it was the paramount issue now, it is wise now. The three forces in the country are the miners, the miners' association, and the miners' strike, and they should stick together.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites, can be taken as easily in summer as in winter. Unlike the plain oil it is palatable, and the hypophosphites that are in it aid in digestion and at the same time tone up the system.

For sickly, delicate children, and for those whose lungs are affected, it is a mistake to leave it off in the summer months. The dose may be reduced if necessary.

We recommend the small size especially for summer use, and for children, where a smaller dose is required. It should be kept in a cool place after it is once opened.

For sale by all druggists at 50c and 60c.
